

s suggests that overall, there is a trend of sadness, as opposed to happiness. The implications of this could be th